Hek82, it's your ship!

I couldn't be more excited to have been given the wonderful opportunity to be on board this cruise! This will be my first time ever on board a cruise like this and I couldn't be happier to join the party. Hek Radio- it's your ship...!

More than exciting, is the chance to play guitar at the workshops with some of the greatest stars in metal... plus drums and vocals workshops too. I also look forward to attending the concerts, it's non-stop metal rocking the boat.

Hek82 wants to chat w/ you on board!

Please remember to look for Hek and say "Hi!"

If you want to chat or podcast I am more than willing! Especially if we can find time in betwixt all of the activities and amidst the music... Let ### Phenomenal tribute to Lemmy and Motorhead.

This show was the one night that we all had a sincere desire to be in attendance on the Sunset Blvd. strip. Whether or not we had the opportunity to be present at the memorial, it was now time to hear some Motorhead music live, and none of us could wait. Those who were not able to stop by the Rainbow bar, were able to watch the funeral service for Lemmy Kilmeister online. When Phil Taylor passed away last Nov. we all mourned the beginning of Motorhead, and now the end? Motorhead forever!

The crowd was full of energy and the Metal Allegiance line up was stupendous. I knew that those making appearances that night were among the best including Corey Taylor, and Dave Lombardo. The album itself includes our most favorite players and Mike Portnoy was driving the drums most of the night.

In fact, the place was busting at the seams when a mosh pit formed like a small whirlpool and I almost got sucked in, then a fight broke out and a 300+ lbs guard had to pull two guys apart and throw them outside. Then a big fat drunk guy almost fell down the stairs and could've landed on me so I stepped away and watched him catch himself. That was actually fun.

More whiskey would've been great too, because when there's some there should always be more. The reason was that I had to drive a car... I think I'd like to be a hillbilly!

David Bowie

A hero of my childhood, a legend of song... Let's be mournful of his passing but at the same time celebrate his life and works together.

He has left us not all too suddenly, but with the gift of his presence in his latest album Black Star. Well worth listening to, the record is a great remedy if we are feeling at a loss. These songs demonstrate a lifetime of achievement and his invaluable experience as a vocalist, composer and writer of songs. Bowie's songs have been so popular and so will these on the new album, as well-liked as always. Bowie is forever.
